

Women'$ Relationship with Money

*Are you ready to take charge of YOUR relationship with money?
If so, this workshop is for YOU!*

People often say that money can't buy happiness. This may or may not be true. What is true is that money does provide opportunity for freedom, autonomy and choice, something women know and want. A successful relationship with money requires, like any other successful relationship, our attention, commitment and time. In order to live the life we truly desire it is essential that women consciously examine their emotional, cognitive, spiritual and physical relationship with money. Only then are we free to design and live the life of our choosing.

IN THIS WORKSHOP YOU WILL:

- ✓ Discover the role that money plays in the world we live in today;
- ✓ Determine the blueprint (assumptions, beliefs, myths) from which you operate in your current relationship with money;
- ✓ Design your customized blueprint for your desired relationship with money; and
- ✓ Develop your plan of action for taking charge of your chosen relationship with money.
